2. Overview of the Corporate Partner

ispace offers partnership programs in which it sells the rights to use ispace's activities as content, logo exposure on advertising media, and data usage rights as a package, and collaborates in technological and business development. Currently, we are offering partnership services for the period of Mission 1 and Mission 2 activities in the "HAKUTO-R" lunar exploration program by the commercial company. Partnership services are classified into Official Partner, Corporate Partner, Supporting Company, and Media Partner, depending on the service content and collaboration method. The main services of Corporate Partners include imprinting of the corporate logo on our lunar lander.

3. Background and future initiatives

JINS is a company that aims to shed light on possibilities that no one has yet discovered, and to enrich and expand the way people live. Through the partnership with HAKUTO-R, JINS aims to realize the "challenge of the unknown world" of both companies, and to take a step forward that will also expand new horizons for the future space industry.

4. Schedule

(1)	Date of Resolution at Board of Directors meeting	November 12, 2024
(2)	Execution date of the PSA	November 2024 (Tentative)

5. Impact on financial results

As for our partnership services, contract payments are made in a lump sum or in multiple installments from the time of contract until the end of the HAKUTO-R program. In addition, sales are recorded by dividing the total sponsorship fee received from each partner into monthly installments from the time of signing the contract until the end of the program.

Since this contract was expected to be concluded during the current fiscal year and has already been incorporated into the consolidated earnings forecast for the fiscal year ending March 31, 2025, the impact on the earnings forecast is considered to be negligible.

The total contract amount for partnership services under the HAKUTO-R program, including this and the other corporate partner contract as well as one official partner contract disclosed on the same day, is 2,219 million yen.
